

LEARNING FROM YESTERDAY'S FUTURE

Get inspired by a visit to our exhibitions with a learning program. By reflecting on the future, Next Nature Academy offers you the tools to tackle the challenges of today and tomorrow.

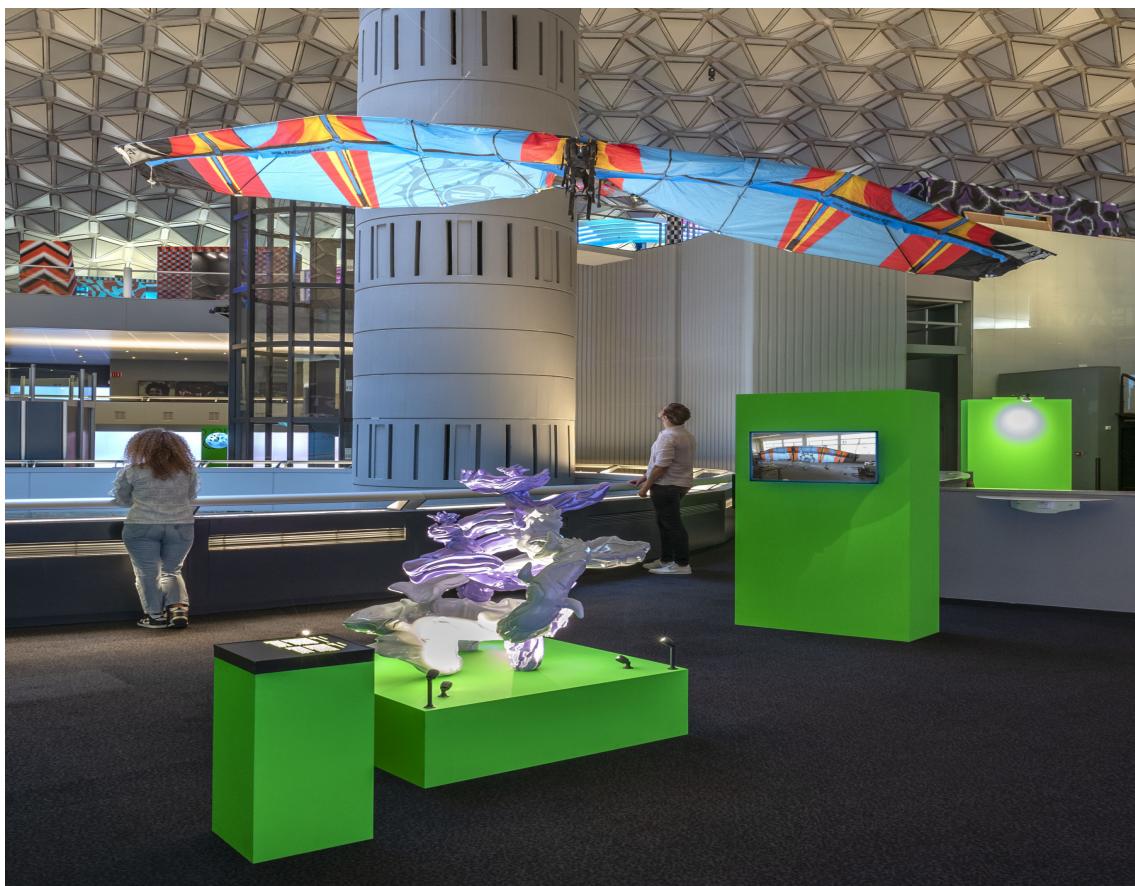

RETROFUTURE

RetroFuture shows the images, stories and visions of future thinkers from history, it tells about the universal dreams and challenges we had and have about the future. What distinguishes future thinkers from you and me is that they are often far ahead of their time. This is not because they have a special gift, but because they take different perspectives from the mainstream. They question the status quo and show us that 'the' future does not exist but that several futures are conceivable

Be inspired by the different lenses through which you can look at the future and discover the future thinker in yourself. The future lies in today, the trick is to explore possible futures and work towards a desired future. We can't wait to start working on it with you!

How do we harness the future to today's questions. That is the common thread in the programme offered by Next Nature Academy accompanying the exhibition RetroFuture. There is a programme not only for organisations and companies, but also for pupils and students. From student to director, thinking about the future is an inspiring voyage of discovery for everyone.

Broadly speaking, the programme consists of a lecture, a visit to the exhibition and a subsequent workshop in which we explore possible futures together. Participants are guaranteed to go home with different perspectives about the future. We take a step from wonder to change.
